Melissa: Suzanne just mentioned to me that you're in the EOC today. Lois, is this something you think you can tackle?

Thanks, nancy

Nancy,

I'm over in EOC today working on the Gold King Mine media responses for OSRTI. We will do our best to gather something together on this Libby request, working with site-specific regional staff, but I'm pretty sure we aren't going to be able to meet a deadline of today.

thanks

Melissa

Julia: OSRTI should be able to cobble together something they can review/amend. Melissa, okay with you?

Thanks, nancy

Before I send it out there, and for exactly this reason, is there a way we could manage this one from HQ? Our HQ program folks could reach out directly to counterparts there? I don't think that there will be any way the press people can process this at all.

Nope, you're right, Lois. Let's have the region take it, and if they need help we are available.

Freelance Senior Public Health Correspondent / Author

I am writing a wrap-up of Libby and the cleanup for a couple of national news outlets and to complete the revision of my earlier book on Libby and the EPA team - "An Air That Kills."

1. Total spent on Libby cleanup, including, please, number of houses, businesses and public areas cleaned.
2. Total spent (and breakdown if possible) on cleanup of Zonolite and vermiculite processing plants.
3. Does EPA have a remaining mission in Libby, If so, what please?
